RAF flies in for ex-pilot's 100th

A former Second World War RAF pilot was surprised with a special 100th birthday message from officers serving in the squadron he used to fly with.

Sidney George, who is a resident at Blair Park Residential Home, Crown Road, Milton, marked the special occasion with a party last Tuesday.

A framed message from 60

Squadron was presented to him by Flt Lt Chris Pepper.

He also received a telegram from the Queen and a civic card and bunch of flowers from the Mayor of Swale, Cllr Samuel Koffie-Williams.

The party was organised by both staff at the home and members of Mr George's family.

Activities coordinator, Tina

Shilling, said: "He was presented with a plaque from the RAF to mark his birthday.

"Sidney is a really lovely gentleman that we enjoy looking after and we love caring for him.

"He is a really good character. He loves to have a laugh and smile, playing dominoes and sharing his stories from his time when he served in the RAF."
